Abstract:

We accept that historical past along with its events cannot be treated separately when analysing the profile of the current states of the international community. In the case of Türkiye, we shall focus our attention on the defining characteristics of the Ottoman Empire and to what extent they are inherited by the actual Republic of Türkiye. The main objective of this paper is to present and analyse these attributes and also to explain their impact on Türkiye's relations and interactions with the West. The methodological approach is qualitative, more precisely historical-interpretative and analytical.
