DISINTEGRATION AND INTEGRATION IN EAST-CENTRAL EUROPE

3rd Edition - 2016, Berlin

EVENT HELD UNDER THE HIGH PATRONAGE OF THE PRESIDENT OF ROMANIA

14-15 April/avril 2016

*ICD House of Arts & Culture
Genthiner Straße 20, Berlin-10785, Germany/Allemagne*

Prof. Dr. Ioan-Aurel POP, Rector of Babeş-Bolyai University, Member of the Romanian Academy

Dear guests - colleagues and students,

It is a pleasure to welcome you, on behalf of Babeş-Bolyai University, to the 3rd edition of the annual international conference of the Faculty of European Studies, which has made a name for itself amongst experienced scholars and young researchers alike, under the historically noteworthy title of 'Disintegration and Integration in East-Central Europe'. To host the event, this time dedicated to the lengthy reconciliation process, with borders, identities and communities as its focal points, Berlin is indeed a place which marks the beginning of a reconciliation endeavour that has engendered the most complex institutional setting across the continent to date.

I cannot help but notice that once again, such an international scientific event revolves around a subject that comprises some of the essence the identity of our University stems from, ever since its

Ioan-Aurel POP, historian and university professor, member of the Romanian Academy, has been, since March 2012, the Rector of Babeş-Bolyai University of Cluj-Napoca, and, as of March 2013, a member of the European Academy of Sciences and Arts from Salzburg. Since 1999, he has been a corresponding member of the European Academy of Sciences, Arts and Letters from Paris, but he is also a member of several other prestigious national and international organisations of historians. He worked as Director of the Romanian Cultural Institute in New York (USA) and of the Romanian Institute of Culture and Humanistic Research in Venice (Italy). Furthermore, since 1993, he has been the Director of the Centre for Transylvanian Studies creation 435 years ago. The case of Transylvania remains in itself one of the noteworthy angles from which the matter of reconciliation will be regarded as part of the seven-panel structure proposed by the organisers of the conference. I experienced a very similar feeling not long ago, in October last year, when the same Faculty of European Studies, holding true to its reputation build on the breadth of its international openness in the academic community and beyond, organised, in Cluj, the international conference 'European Culture', whose story was not unlike that of the University that opened its doors to it.

Allow me to salute, then, the colleagues and students who have made their way, through the ambition of their research, to the event which is sure to give new impetus to the debates dedicated to reconciliation, a subject that is worthy of being borne in mind or at least remembered whenever the historical heritage of our continent is called into question. My appreciation also goes to what has become a genuine network of partners created by the Faculty of European Studies, to which we owe this edition of the 'Disintegration and Integration in East-Central Europe' conference, from the High Patronage of the President of Romania, to the academic input of the University of Strasbourg, the dedicated research of the European Union Liaison Committee of Historians, the support of the Jean Monnet Programme and, not least, the experience of the Institute for Cultural Diplomacy in Berlin.

Let us all enjoy the conference and rejoice at the knowledge presenting itself before us!

within the Romanian Academy. Moreover, Ioan-Aurel POP is the author and co-author of over fifty books, treatises, course books, as well as of many studies and articles. Among the most important works: Cultural Diffusion and Religious Reformation in Sixteenth-Century Transylvania. How the Jesuits Dealt with the Orthodox and Catholic Ideas, The Edwin Mellen Press, 2014, De manibus Vallacorum scismaticorum...Romanians and Power in the Mediaeval Kingdom of Hungary (The Thirteenth and Fourteenth Centuries), Peter Lang Publishing House, 2013, as well as Biserică, societate și cultură în Transilvania secolului al XVI-lea. Între acceptare și exclude, Editura Academiei Române, 2012.

Prof. Sylvain Schirmann, Université de Strasbourg
Co-Organizer of the Conference

Depuis quelques temps déjà, l'habitude a été prise entre la Faculté des études européennes de l'Université Babes-Bolyai de Cluj et les historiens de l'IEP de Strasbourg d'une coopération sur les questions européennes. Cela s'est non seulement traduit par des thèses en co-tutelle, mais également par des manifestations scientifiques qui ont bénéficié du concours du partenaire. Le colloque de Berlin se situe dans cette ligne.

Esquissé au lendemain du colloque de Cluj de 2014, le programme berlinois tente d'explorer la voie de la réconciliation en Europe centrale et orientale. Pour ce faire, il entend l'apprécier au regard d'une autre réconciliation : celle de la France et de l'Allemagne. Cela rend la poursuite de cette coopération Cluj-Strasbourg encore plus pertinente. Si on reconnaît à Strasbourg une valeur symbolique en matière de rapprochement franco-allemand, insistant sur la pluralité culturelle issue de son histoire, on ne peut pas ne pas voir également la même pluralité culturelle à l'oeuvre à Cluj. La fin de la division de l'Europe ouvre un nouveau chapitre de son histoire, à la fois à l'est et à l'ouest. Dès lors comment dépasser dans la partie orientale de l'Europe les frontières, les identités ? Peut-on s'y servir de l'expérience occidentale ? Mais même à l'ouest, et notamment cette réconciliation présentée comme exemplaire entre la France et l'Allemagne mérite toujours une approche critique et une attention constante. Est-ce de la rhétorique pure au regard d'objectifs souvent contradictoires ? La certitude d'une mission historique commune ? Le rapprochement engage-t-il au-delà du couple Paris-Berlin ? Auprès de qui : des partenaires européens ou même au-delà ?

Ces questions seront abordées au cours de ces journées de Berlin. Celles-ci constituent la troisième édition du cycle Désintégration et intégration en Europe centrale et orientale initié par la Faculté d'études européennes de l'université Babes-Bolyai. La dimension comparative de cette problématique européenne permet aux collègues de Cluj et à ceux de Strasbourg de poursuivre et d'approfondir leurs échanges.

Sylvain Schirmann is a historian and a PhD Professor at the University of Strasbourg, holder of a Jean Monnet Chair dedicated to the history of European construction. He was the Director of the Institute for Political Science at the University of Strasbourg between 2006 and 2015. His research chiefly focuses on the history of Franco-German relations in the contemporary era, the history of economic and financial international relations, as well as of social movements in international affairs. He has had an important contribution to the academic events, doctoral school and international projects of the Faculty of European Studies, where he teaches courses every year. He is a member of the European Union Liaison Committee of Historians, a reputable author of books and articles and a contributor to numerous international research projects.

Prof. Dr. Nicolae Păun
Dean, Faculty of European Studies,
Babeş-Bolyai University Cluj-Napoca, Romania
Jean Monnet Ad Personam Chair
Co-Organizer of the Conference

During its more than two decades of existence, the Faculty of European Studies of Babeş-Bolyai University has been actively involved in the academic debates centred around the most significant topics on the European Union's agenda, with expertise and research conducted with our national and international partners. Through its multidisciplinary focus, our Faculty has made a point of analysing the contribution of East-Central Europe to the integration process, a feat whose roots may be traced back to the area's synchronisation endeavours in modern history, with notable periods of continuity and discontinuity, and which has gained prominence with the advent of the ambitiously-called New Europe. It is precisely for this reason that the International Conference "Disintegration and Integration in East-Central Europe" was created, under the auspices of the Jean Monnet Programme, bringing together reputable scholars, young researchers and various stakeholders in the field of integration, with such preoccupations as history, political science, international relations, cultural heritage, economics, law etc. Now at its 3rd edition, the Conference is dedicated to "Borders, Identities, Communities: The Road to Reconciliation and Partnership in Central and Eastern Europe", in the format of a well-timed debate amid the challenges the European Union has been facing, in the light of crises, migration, the redefinition of its framework and unprecedented security threats. What better place could one have sought for such an ample subject than Berlin, inevitably taking us to the foundations of the current integration endeavour and yielding models of cooperation and overcoming historical divisions whose applicability in the East-Central part of our continent has been proved on so many occasions.

The partners of this year's Conference, once again organised under the auspices of the Jean Monnet Programme, are: the University of Strasbourg, providing a solid framework for the analysis of the reconciliation paths in recent European history; the Institute for Cultural Diplomacy of Berlin, the host of the event and a prestigious gathering place for notable voices in the area of European affairs; and the European Union's Liaison Committee of Historians, whose valuable contributions to the identity of our Conference have enabled it to take shape and adapt to the twists and turns that the integration phenomenon has experienced to date. The Conference is held under the High Patronage of the President of Romania, Mr Klaus Werner Iohannis.

Hoping you will find our Conference panels and setting to be well-tailored to the topics of reconciliation and partnership in the East-Central European area, on behalf of the Faculty of European Studies and all the Conference organisers, we would like to welcome you to Berlin and we look forward to an exciting pan-European academic event.

Dean of the Faculty of European Studies, Babeş-Bolyai University of Cluj-Napoca (2011) and Jean Monnet Ad Personam Professor of European Integration (2011). He is member of the EU Liaison Committee of Historians (2009), the National Council for Academic Titles, Diplomas and Certificates (CNATDCU), the Romanian European Community Studies Association (RECSA), and a founding member of the European Movement in Romania.

Member of the editorial boards of various scientific journals, such as Revue de l'histoire de l'intégration européenne (2009), L'Europe Unie (2009), Studia Europaea (1996), On-line Journal Modelling the New Europe (2010).

Author of 9 volumes, co-author and coordinator of 11 books and over 80 articles covering subjects like European Integration, Romanian and European Economic History. His priorities in teaching and research include the History of European Integration, EU Policies, the European Institutional System, EU Governance, Eastern and Central European perspectives on European Integration.
